E-readers, downloadable audio books, copyright issues, privacy concerns, databases, spreadsheets and word processing are just some of the things the modern librarian is expected to know while salaries stagnate. How do librarians keep their skills current in the 21st century on a limited budget?

Please come to one of the round tables to discuss your continuing education concerns and/or to suggest ways to continue your education that are free or cost effective.

Note: If you are a member of the North Country Co-op, the Round Table is part of your regular meeting and you do not have to pay the registration fee. However, please submit the registration form so that we can have an accurate head count.
